

Remote Work & Expense Policy

Doc ID: POL-HR-014 • Effective: Jan 1, 2024 • Rev. 3 (unreviewed since Aug 2024)

1. Purpose

This policy explains what the company will and will not reimburse for employees working remotely, and clarifies expectations around availability, equipment, and travel. It replaces the interim WFH guidance circulated during 2021 and applies to all full-time staff.

2. WHO THIS APPLIES TO

All full-time employees classified as remote or hybrid. Contractors should refer to their individual agreements — this policy does NOT apply to contractors, interns, or seasonal staff unless explicitly stated otherwise in their offer letter.

3. Home office stipend

Employees receive a one-time $500 stipend for home office setup, and an ongoing $40/month toward internet costs. The one-time stipend must be claimed within 90 days of start date or it expires. no extensions will be granted except in cases approved by a VP.

Expense Category	Reimbursed?	Annual Cap	Approval Needed
Home internet	Yes	$480	No
Desk / chair	Yes (one-time)	$500	No
Coworking space	Yes	$250/mo	Manager
Personal phone bill	Partial	$20/mo	No
Software subscriptions	Case-by-case	n/a	Manager + IT

4. TRAVEL FOR IN-PERSON MEETINGS

Remote employees required to travel to a company office or offsite are reimbursed for coach-class flights, standard hotel rooms (up to $220/night in major metros, $160/night elsewhere), and ground transportation. Receipts are required for anything over $25. Submit expenses via the Expense Portal within 14 days of travel — late submissions may be denied at manager discretion.

5. equipment & IT

IT-issued laptops remain company property and must be returned upon termination. Employees needing a second monitor, docking station, or ergonomic accessories should file a request through the IT Helpdesk; approval typically takes 2-3 business days.

6. QUESTIONS

Direct questions about this policy to peopleops@company.example or post in #ask-people-ops. This document is reviewed annually; the current version supersedes all prior copies.
