Segment Performance

The Enterprise Data Platform segment remains our primary growth driver, contributing $31.4M of quarterly revenue (65% of total). The Analytics Add-ons segment grew modestly to $9.8M, while Professional Services contributed $7.0M, roughly flat versus the prior quarter as we shift customers toward self-serve onboarding.

Segment	Q3 Revenue	% of Total	QoQ Growth
Enterprise Data Platform	$31.4M	65%	+4%
Analytics Add-ons	$9.8M	20%	+7%
Professional Services	$7.0M	15%	-1%

Risk Factors and Outlook

Management notes continued macroeconomic uncertainty affecting enterprise procurement cycles, which may lengthen average deal times in Q4. Foreign exchange headwinds reduced reported international revenue by approximately $0.6M. We remain committed to our full-year revenue guidance of $190M-$196M, reflecting continued confidence in pipeline conversion despite these headwinds.

Headcount

Total headcount at quarter end was 412, up from 388 in Q2 2025. Engineering and Product functions accounted for the majority of net additions as we continue to invest in platform reliability and new data-connector integrations.
